Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

C.J. Fox was born in St. Johns, Nfld. and was educated at St. Francis Xavier University in Nova Scotia, Oxford and Columbia Universities. He began his career in Montreal with the Canadian Press. In the 1950's-1960's, he lived & worked in New York, where he began collecting Wyndham Lewis materials. C. J. Fox was editor, with Walter Michael, of 'Wyndham Lewis on Art' (Thames & Hudson, 1971) and with Robert T. Chapman, of a collection of short fiction by Lewis, 'Unlucky for Pringle' (Vision Press, 1973). He also edited 'Enemy Salvoes (Vision Press, 1975), a selection of Lewis's literary criticism. He is a former editor of the newsletter of the Wyndham Lewis Society and has published articles on David Jones, Karl Kraus and Robinson Jeffers, as well as reviewing for the magazine, 'PN Review'. He worked as a correspondent in London, Paris and Brussels for the Canadian Press news agency and was an editor in London with Reuters until 1994. He later retired to Canada and currently lives in Victoria, B.C.

Scope and content

The fonds consists of four series:

Series 1: The Wyndham Lewis (1882-1957) series is a subject file compiled and arranged by C. J. Fox related to the Wyndham Lewis biography his writing and his art. It contains photocopies of several Lewis manuscripts and typescripts (some unpublished) and correspondence, articles, clippings, lectures, obituaries, reviews on Lewis and his books. There are photographs of Wyndham Lewis and his art, and correspondence to CJF with Froanna (Gladys Anne Wyndham Lewis) and other writers: Richard Aldington, Roy Campbell, about T.S. Eliot with Valerie Eliot; photocopies of Ezra Pound's war letters to Lewis), V.S. Pritchett, Kathleen Raine, Martin Seymour-Smith and George Woodcock. Correspondence with other critics and editors include: Walter Allen, Elliott Baker, D.G. Bridson, Robert Chapman, Geoffrey Grigson, Frank Kermode, Hugh Kenner, Bernard Lafoucade, Jeffrey Meyers, Paul O'Keefe, Hugh Gordon Porteous, W.K. Rose and E.W. F. Tomlin. There are also correspondence with WL art collector: Walter Michel and WL book collector Hugh Anson-Cartwright as well as file on artist and friend of WL, Michael Ayrton. There is also correspondence, book reviews, clippings and photocopies about specific publications, such as The Art of Being Ruled, The Apes of God and the C.J. Fox edited, Journey into Barbary. This is correspondence with people who Fox contacted or collaborated with. There are files on some of C.J.F's Lewis-related activities, such as exhibitions and publications and on particular subjects such as Wyndham Lewis in Canada (which includes letters from Lord Beaverbrook, Paul Martin Senior, Alex Colville, A.Y. Jackson to C.J. Fox), Notting Hill Gate (the "Rotting Hill" exhibition on three great men), World War I and Vorticism.

Series 2: the General series consists of more subject files containing correspondence, typescripts, manuscripts, photographs and research material pertaining to the other authors in the collection: Richard Aldington (including RA correspondence with A.S. Frere (photocopies) and files on Aldington's relations with Hilda Doolittle and T.E. Lawrence. There is also C.J.F correspondence about Aldington with Norman T Gates, Alison Palmer, E.G Roberts and David Wilkinson. This series also includes files on other writers collected by C.J.F: C.M Doughty, Ford Maddox Ford, Paul Fussell, Germans (Ernst Junger and Gottfried Benn), Xavier Herbert, Samuel Hynes, Robinson Jeffers, David Jones (including correspondence with Kathleen Raine and Bill Blisset), Hugh MacDiarmid, Graham McInnes, H.L Mencken and Ambrose Bierce, C.E Montague, Lewis Namier, Donald Pearce, William H. Pritchard, Alan Ross, Edmund Wilson and David Wright with more extensive correspondence files between C.J.F with C.H. Sisson and Julian Symons.

Series 3: The Miscellaneous series consists of clippings, correspondence and other enclosures removed from the Fox book collection and several audio cassettes including Lewis's "Crisis" talk on BBC Radio, a BBC reading by Timothy West from Blasting and Bombardiering and a radio dramatization of The Human Age.

Series 4: Wyndham Lewis related drawings and paintings collected by C.J Fox consists of art work of Wyndham Lewis and Michael Ayrton and Robert Colquhoun collected by Cy Fox. Some are reproductions of book jacket designs, WL paintings and posters produced for Wyndham Lewis exhibitions. There are also two artefacts. WL's table and ash tray which are shown in WL painting of Ezra Pound.

The fonds also consists of material pertaining to The Percy Wyndham Lewis Exhibition at Rugby School; a photograph of Cy Fox; an obituary for Maisie Wyndham Neil; research files pertaining to Wyndham Lewis, Ernst Junger, Corinne McLuhan, Vorticism, and Ezra Pound; a promotional video for The Lion and the Fox Exhibition; material pertaining to the National Portrait Gallery exhibition "Wyndham Lewis Portraits".

Date: 1955 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Portrait of Wyndham Lewis by Michael Ayrton, 1955, pencil on paper. Purchased from artist's widow, Elisabeth Ayrton in the 1980s. In dulled silver-coloured frame, matted and glassed, with beginnings of another drawing of WL by MA on back which is not visible at present. Main drawing shows WL - 73 that year and virtually blind, though working on his last major fiction The Human Age - in profile, wearing glasses and eyeshade. An account by MA of doing WL's portrait is in the Fox collection. 25 x 35 cm.

Date: 1954 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Alternative colour dust wrapper design by Michael Ayrton for WL's novel Self Condemned (1954). Gouache, executed 1953. Purchased from Keith H. Chapman Gallery, London, 1996. MA's account of how the design by him finally used was selected by WL via the sighted Mrs. Lewis is included in the Fox collection. If anything, the alternative image here presented is a more detailed and robust reading in visual terms by MA of WL's fiery (and partly Canadian-set) book. Title: A two-tiered wooden telephone table, together with a rectangular chinaware (lusterware) ashtray

ID: SC404-4-OS4

Scope and content:

A two-tiered wooden telephone table, together with a rectangular chinaware (lusterware) ashtray, which has a pink glaze design with a coppery edge, and a black and white scene plus a poem in its centre. The two items are prominent in WL's well-known 1938-39 oil of Ezra Pound (see item 17 below) and - the brown table at least - in several other portraits by WL, as well as in photos of him at his Notting Hill Gate, London, flat. WL was evidently fond of pieces, the common-garden table eminently useful as well as Art-Deco picturesque and the ashtray colourful and gracious in the very triteness of its emblazoned verse ("Sailor's Farewell"). In any event, both were transmuted into permanent significance by the artist's hand. Bequeathed to CJF from the Estate of Mrs. Lewis, 1980. Table is 60 cm in height. The ashtray is 19 x 21 cm. (stored in Special Collections.)

ID: SC404-4-OS6

Scope and content:

Two ink sketches, one of a horse and the other of a horse and rider, in a highly imaginative style and ascribed to Robert Colquhoun, the mid-20th Century Scottish painter publicly praised by WL in The Listener magazine (see elsewhere in the Fox collection) during a turbulent career cut short by an early death. The sketches were given to CJF in London by a friend of RC and are in a single metallic frame, matted and glassed. Both drawings are 11 x 17.5 cm.

Date: 1933 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Large colour reproduction, board-backed, of WL's 1933 oil Inca and the Birds (Michel P49) issued by its present owner, the Arts Council of Great Britain. The picture was possibly occasioned by, among other things, WL's reading of Prescott's Histories of the Spanish Empire, as was his 1936 oil The Surrender of Barcelona. The Inca ranks among WL's most powerfully enigmatic paintings, the subject of brilliant analysis by Richard Humphreys of the Tate Gallery, London. (see elsewhere in Fox collection). 55 x 67 cm.
