Title: Henry Miller collection

ID: SC082

Date: 1935 - 1979 (date of creation)

Physical description: 18 cm of textual records and other material

Note [generalNote]: Note on names: The correspondence between Miller and Alfred Perles (later Alfred Barrett) displays a confusion of names, remarked on by Miller in "Joey" (Capara Press, 1979): "Sometimes I called him Alf, sometimes Fred, and sometimes Joey. He usually called me Joey, seldom Henry".

Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Henry Miller (1891-1980) was born in New York and resided in France and other European cities. Miller was a writer noted for his candid treatment of sex and his espousal of the "natural man". His "Tropic of Cancer" (1934) and "Tropic of Capricorn" (1939) were banned as obscene in the United States until 1961. Other books include the trilogy "The Rosy Crucifixion". Miller was a major influence on the "Beat Generation" of writers.

Custodial history

The Henry Miller MSS were acquired from dealers from 1966 to 1971 and complemented a substantial print collection. The main provider of the Perles and Ackroyd correspondence was the House of El Dieff.

Scope and content

The collection consists of correspondence including: letters and postcards to Alfred Perlès, letters and postcards to Graham Ackroyd, letters to Father Brocard Sewell, and miscellaneous letters to and from publishers and others. Also included are watercolours, sketches, and photographs plus typescripts, with holograph corrections, for "Max", "Quiet Days in Clichy", Miller's preface to "Hollywood Hallucination" by Parker Tyler, "This Is My Answer", and "Just Wild About Harry".
